An example of life in old Korea
The girl wouldn't let me take her picture
Dong daemon
Kimpoo Airport

An old man with a stick in white baji chogori
With a black katsu on his head
The taxi driver kept asking if I wanted a woman
Highway wa kassoro

Myongdong St. has no neon signs
Roadside pillboxes with armed police in front
Kuni no hana wa mukuge
There is a curfew from midnight till 4

Haikara na Myongdong musume
From Busan you can see Tsushima
The speed limit for passenger
Cars is thirty-seven miles per hour

Yakan no dorjo de no chusha wa
Chushato o tento suru koto
Korea has air raid drill once a month
Tokyo-Seoul kan wa yaku nijikan
People over forty-six speak Japanese
