Like the leaf that sleeps through summer
We all trade the sun for dreams
Soon we'll fade from green to fire colors
As we spill to grasses green
I have realized I'll only be here for a while
Life comes and goes before you know
And I have realized life's a blessing and a trial
You could come, then go before you know
Why you're living this life
Do we have a hope?
Do we have a hope?
We all wonder why we wake each morning
As we breathe our nicotines
Are we here only to suffer aging?
Are we here to fall like leaves?
I have realized I'll only be here for a while
Life comes and goes before you know
And I have realized life's a blessing and a trial
You could come, then go before you know
Why you're living this life
Do we have a hope?

Do we have a hope?

Do we have a hope?

Do we have a hope?

I have realized I'll only be here for a while

Life comes and goes before you know

And I have realized life's a blessing and a trial

You could come, then go before you know

Why you're living this life
