reaping the seeds i planted things that i always took for granted i feel a little bit unstable tell me if i'm willing are you able to come and help me out right now? if you do, i'm resolute i won't back down broken and i'm still breaking change is my latest undertaking i'm only hoping that tomorrow has a greater hope for me to borrow i'm separated from the rest i will try, but i can only do my best today i saw myself with honest eyes and my face i barely recognized. if the wounded never heal what will i do?
how will i feel?
can i assume,
at least pretend,
that things will work out in the end?
sunken and i'm still sinking and you're the only thing i'm thinking of ties that i could hardly sever when i'm needing you now more than ever
