One autumn, you once said to me
"There's too much stuff around"
The bus groaned along
You put your hand upon
The window of the town
And I thought
You look just fine to me
You look just fine to me
You look just fine to me

Shall we liquefy
Oh, you and I
And mingle in the stream?
Shall we liquefy
Oh, you and I,
And vanish into the sea?

Still sleeping, you woke me up
Muttering in your dream
In darkness, I could feel your
Your little body breathe
And I thought
You feel just fine to me
You feel just fine to me
You feel just fine to me

Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And mingle in the stream?
Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And appear in the ocean's dream?
Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And vanish into the sea?

Will I always love you?
I just don't know
I'll give it a go
Will you always love me?
How could you know?

Just give it a go

I was at a party
That's when it came to me
Oh, what a moment
I was reading a magazine
In someone's bedroom
And I thought
You're just so fine to me
You're just so fine to me
You're just so fine to me

Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And mingle in the stream?
Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I
And appear in the ocean's dream?
Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And vanish into the sea?

You and I
We liquefy

You and me
We liquefy

Shall we liquefy,
Oh, you and I,
And vanish into the sea?
