[Galadriel from 'The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring' sample] The world is changed, I feel it in the water I feel it in the earth, I smell it in the air Much that once was is lost, for none now live who remember it Even the smallest person can change the course of the future [Cno Evil] I can smell it in the air, that something is not right Too much pain and suffering in the middle of the night The fights, don't even have any more meaning They overcome by the shadows of the misleading I breathe in, I breathe out, I'm not a lemming I don't follow them off the ledge, and straight to heaven Too much brainwashing, like they boxed in a box With no freedom of speech, just told what you should shop for I'm like an outlaw, running out the back door Handcuffs on my hands, feet dragging on the floor A slave of hip hop, I refused to get copped Bought out by industry propaganda flipflops If my shit flops, atleast I have a pure heart I'm not a robot that gets rebuilt with your better parts The real state of hip hop is gone, almost finished But we can change the course of the future, just witness The hearts of men, are easily corrupted No more music, just noise, with your clutter and rumblings That's why we in a state of emergency So we retaliate, with the quickest ways of urgency Come splurge with me, come rejoice with the voice The tears of joy, making your bittersweet moist Make the other cheek choice, and look 'em in the eye Turn your back, and do your raps, make 'em wonder why The 6 Feet Under guys, there's a reason we took that name Underground's the sound, let's unite and do the same Let's take flight into the flames, and dwell into the hells Might result in war, let's start ringing them bells I never hold back, cuz this is what I love My heart stays underground, I keep my brain above I've been escaped the traps, even clogged up my ears Let 'em go, no more fears, I hear what I wanna hear [Chorus: Cno Evil] Don't hold back, if this is what you love Don't go back, and keep ya self above Don't get trapped, by the music that you hear Let yourself go, and overcome your fears [Li-Mouse] Even the smallest person can change the course of the world Think about it, one idea, one man, even a girl Invent, and create things that we take for granted What if there was never a wheel, would you feel so enchanted? Natural resources, they would never get shipped So you can scratch off, rolling up, in that brand new whip And nope, that Pepsi you got, no straw to take that sip You can clutch destiny, you'll never lose grip Imagine, not one machine or computer was born The world itself would be twisted up and torn The ability to make and create a new idea But can backfire, with guns and bombs from North Korea Changing the course of the future is difficult, hard to trace it When the new gets old, someone has to replace it Much like what The Rodentz are here to do to hip hop Never claim to be hood, street, or ever get popped I'm tired of you saying we're soft, cuz we care not Willingly admit paintballs the one time I've been shot Only killing I do is, frags in my CPU Listen to my words and you might see me through How can someone as small as me, make such a big change Given this name in this insane domain, I play this game It's critical, hip hop needs individuals That ignore the lies, disses propaganda risiduals I sleep to Cold 97 and Weak 105 Very little do they give new talent to strive A different story though, get back to the topic Lyrical pilots, who control throttles in the cockpit I refuse to give up, I'm giving everything I have I can tell by the flows, MC's only couldn't have And that's that, the story of the future Something that can never be seen, by no computer [Galadriel from 'The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring' sample] One chance, to destroy evil, forever One chance, to destroy evil, forever One chance, to destroy evil, forever The hearts of men, are easily corrupted One chance, to destroy evil, forever One chance, to destroy evil, forever One chance, to destroy evil, forever The hearts of men, are easily corrupted
