every hapless thought was right having burned into hate beyond despair I dream alone no one could care of wasting with her types yet I still connive to go running back into the lie the day you left a part of me unglued at the seems

CHORUS

don't want to remember
my darkest day
goodbyes are forever
you slipped away
No longer together
so cold and gray
you left me forever
alone and empty

all my demons out tonight, cold fire blazed within my eyes
I sit at night and wait for life to (stop) this hellish ice your voice brings me light until I realize that you have died
the day you left I burned with all this anger that I light... that I light

my reflections so vein this is who I've become I see the shell that I've made in these long hapless days and it's as (our life flies in) I feel its cold on my skin easing my pain in these long hapless days
