The deceitful race

I saw her lying there in deadly twisted wounds.
Infected by her own seeds left behind to pass away in pain.

One time this child was an innocent girl.
Water in her tears and the sun in her eyes.
Now she is leaking the smell make me sick.
Torn from within, conquered in sin.

All that she sees is death laughing in her face.
It eats up her soul, consume her inner parts.
But death is not monstrous, he's beautiful like us.
She sees who it is, it is her son.

I saw her lying there in deadly twisted wounds.
Infected by her own seeds left behind to pass away in
pain.

One time this child was an innocent girl.
Water in her tears and the sun in her eyes.
Now she is leaking the smell make me sick.
Torn from within, conquered in sin.

Her flesh is decaying, her skin is pale
There's only one answer, our god has failed.
Envy and greed tear her apart
History's now, no future exists.
You've gotâ€¦!

I saw her lying there in deadly twisted wounds.
Infected by her own seeds left behind to pass away in
pain.

There's only one answer - God has failed
Anger - Kills her

You've gotâ€¦!

I saw her lying there in deadly twisted wounds.

Infected by her own seeds left behind to pass away in
pain.

You've got to see what I see
