I dont care if shes winning the race.
I dont care who comes in second, I dont care whos in last place.
Carings useless, when theres nothing you can do,
And the whole worlds watching you, and youre forced to watch her loose.

Watch her fall, watch her cry, and shes barely getting by,
Shes going higher and losing track of you.

I dont know just where Id be without you here to encourage me.
I had hope that you would feel the same about me.

But you dont care how I feel about you
You ignore the things I say, you forget the things I do.
It doesnt matter I dont care what you think of me.
I just want you to believe, live your dreams, and succeed.

You dont see all the tears, you dont know of all my fears.
You dont know how much I care.

I care too much, about what you could be.
Youve been a good example and thats what I need to see,
But it doesnt matter, Im not worthy of you example
anyway.
I wish that I could tell you that I love you.

You might forget me but Ill never forget you.
The simple things you say and the great things that
youll do.
You might hate me when you find out who I am.
But no matter what you do I wont hate you because I cant

I dont know just where Id be without you here to encourage me.

I can see you dont have all you need.
Forget about me forget about me.

The people say I dont have a chance, why try?
You will never see the day when you can look her in the eye
And say I Love You. But all of that can wait right now.
You dont need to know just how fond I am of you.

You might forget me but Ill never forget you.
The simple things you say and the great things that
youll do.
You might hate me when you find out who I am.
But no matter what you do I wont hate you because I
cant
