When the light is on and the stereo is off
I know I look so pale
When the money is gone and the nightmares are on
I know I look so pale

And I stay inside because excuses
Are the only thing that I wear
And you know it so well

Sometimes I wonder what you see in me
But I am grateful
Sometimes we drink and smoke us free
But that is something I will never be without you

I don't remember any yesterday
Only that time don't kill my pain
I guess it's easy to be sober for one day
But I am shaking and here it comes again

And I stay inside because excuses
Are the only thing that I wear
And you know it so well
