I've read the scripts and changed the endings I've fired directors and stopped pretending the lights go down the curtain's closed this actors life has been exposed you and I both know how the story goes it's a never-ending plot...exactly what you thought all the cameras make it seem so real but all the sweat makes the makeup peel

the lights go down the curtain's closed

exactly what you thought.... it's always what you thought you and I both know the credits never roll
