One and one,
They cope together.
She likes to party and
He's not allowed to hang
Her friends thinks he's no good

She tried to get him along but
They just don't agree
She tells him he can't come but
He wants a reason

She says,
"I'm sorry, but you can't come along
The fun will stop and problems will start."
He feels himself as no good.
"You have all the fun and I'm stuck here all alone."

"You don't have to go everywhere with me,
You can hang out with your own friends."
"They don't wanna hang."
They don't wanna hang.

Out and about,
He has that feeling
She is out with her friends
He's watching a movie
He thinks there's another one.

He stands up and calls her but
She doesn't have the time
She tells him she's just talking but
He thinks he's not cool enough.

She says,
"I'm sorry, but you can't come along
The fun will stop and problems will start."
He feels himself as no good.
"You have all the fun and I'm stuck here all alone."

"You don't have to go everywhere with me,
You can hang out with your own friends."

"They don't wanna hang."
They don't wanna hang.

Furious and outspoken,
He seeks an answer but
He refuses the one he's given.
She's in tears
He keeps on asking

She says,
"I'm sorry, but you can't come along
The fun will stop and problems will start."
He feels himself as no good.
"You have all the fun and I'm stuck here all alone."

"You don't have to go everywhere with me,
You can hang out with your own friends."
"They don't wanna hang."
They don't wanna hang.

He never asks them.
He never asks them.
