Some would tell you that I'm going insane
I know for a fact that I have a disease in my brain
It's from all this dreaming that I've been doing
There's no way that I'm able to stop this thing
Just help me ease the pain from my mind
A bad reaction, a counterpart from mankind

I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease

I could tell you that I'm doing just fine
But that would just be a crime on my line
This is not right because I'm feeling so bad
I sit at home and dream up something sad
Now these feelings are something that I need to hide
Complications, life is being put on the side

I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease

Would this be the time to hide
From all these emotions I can't escape from?
Would this be a time to run
From all the dangers that are heading my way?
Could this be the chance of a lifetime
To turn my head and look the other way?
Could this be my one last chance
To cure myself from this pain lurking behind?

I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease

I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease

I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
I've got the dreamer's disease
