I dreamed so much for the one true thing
That would last with me forever inside.
I whisper a letter I wrote in a song I sing
To the one I love as I gather the feelings that ride.
To a hope that this passes on down
For this is what keeps me happy.
These feelings, this smile that I never frown
No frown embarks as I feel myself never unhappy.

I dreamed so much for the never ending story
Of a girl and a guy together forever.
A fairy tale come true in all it's glory
For I wish upon a star for luck with this endeavor.
In my heart, where I feel amorous
Tells me that my feelings are real.
I live my life being buried up in being glamorous
To all of these feelings that I feel.

I dreamed so much for the dreams to come true
And for my hopes and wishes to never fail fate.
I saw the eyes and never looked back for then I knew
That true love does exist and it is so great.
All the mistakes I made and the mistakes I hide
Don't matter anymore because this feeling means so much more.
All the excuses of my past will not stop me on this ride
To finally find what true love has in store.

I dreamed so much for one heart beat to be two
And for my lips to be pressed upon another pair.
In this dream I see it only as me and you
And for us to finally breathe in the same air.
As I walk into the light of this gleaming face
I press my lips upon another's and wait for the final remark.
The answer comes out but more into grace
"Let's join our hands, and together embark."
