And the words you say
You expect me to believe
And the lies you tell
You expect me to think are true

I never lied to you
When I told you those three words
I did lie to you
When I said I didn't anymore

How stupid do you think I am?
How ignorant do you think I am?

You gave me reasons
You expected me to believe
You told me lies
You thought I'd think to be true

I never lied to you
When I told you those three words
I did lie to you
When I said I didn't anymore

I can see right through your lies
I can see right through your alibis

I put the lies behind me
And tried to start anew
But you let your friends
Get the best of you

How stupid do you think I am?
How ignorant do you think I am?

I never lied to you
When I told you those three words
I did lie to you
When I said I didn't anymore

I can see right through your lies
I can see right through your alibis

You never told the truth
When you said those three words
We were a beautiful lie
But I loved you anyway

I never lied to you
When I told you those three words
I did lie to you
When I said I didn't anymore

He was the reason
But he broke you down
You had no choice
But to cover up your lie

How stupid do you think I am?
How ignorant do you think I am?

I can see right through your lies

I can see right through
Your deceiving lies
I can see right into
Your beautiful eyes

You never told the truth
When you said those three words

You never told the truth
When you said those three words
