It's a night that you will never forget
It's raining, it's pouring,
That old man, he isn't snoring
The lights are flickering, the house is shaking
The batteries ran out of the flash light
He needed to see...

This old man...
He fell down because he couldn't see...
Now, he's laying on the floor knowing he's soon to be dead

This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
Thunder louder than giant drums,
Lightning stronger than it can be
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
Raining harder and harder,
Winds stronger and stronger
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be

It's damp and dark as he struggles on the floor
He's crying, he's aching,
That old man, he's struggling
His air is limiting, his knees are shaking
His blood is thinning as he crawls to the door
He needs to breathe...

This old man...
He's crawling around because he can't see...
Now, he's struggling on the floor knowing he's soon to be dead

This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
Thunder louder than giant drums,
Lightning stronger than it can be
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be

Raining harder and harder,
Winds stronger and stronger
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be

This old man...
He's gasping for air because he can't breathe...
Now, he's praying to the Lord knowing his time has come

This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
Thunder louder than giant drums,
Lightning stronger than it can be
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
Raining harder and harder,
Winds stronger and stronger
This storm is worse than bad,
Worser than worse can be
