Those eyes you bought have gone to my head
But they won't take you to my bed
You talk a good game, but girl you've been played Look at this face you choose to play
The town talk keep me up to date, we will never be the same

This a war, this is a heart, these are the strings you'll pull These are the stakes, they have been raised, it's your call
Too much has changed, I hate this place
But I don't wanna leave it this way

Let's get it straight, without a thought I'll take it away That's the price you pay for having luck in the first place Call it what you want, I've spent too long under your thumb
And now the clouds have had their say

I'll make a bet that says we don't leave this place as friends
Are you comfortable, are you comfortable with this?
You play the lady, I'll play the gent, we will call it time well spent
But I've been lying and you're gonna hate me for this

This is the storm so let it pour and take over your shores
Here comes the rain, I'll have my day it's so sore Let it be heard, lessons were learnt and it will never hurt like this again

Take off your colors, who are you wearing them for?
Tick off your lovers, all respect was left at the door
I had a front row seat to you on your knees
It was everything I hope it be

I'll make a bet that says we don't leave this place as
friends
Are you comfortable?

'Cause you're gonna hate me for this

I'll make a bet that says we don't leave this place as
friends

Are you comfortable, are you comfortable with this?

You play the lady, I'll play the gent, we will call it time
well spent

But I've been lying and you're gonna hate me for
