You got a funny way of showing care for us
You got a funny way of showing love
Ain't it fair to say you should be there for us
Ain't it fair to say that you best stop

Cause you got your head held so high
I'm not sure you really recognize
What you've done to those you left behind, left behind, left behind

Where did you go, where did you go
You and your soul, where did you go
You turned so cold, where did you go
The one we used to know
Where'd you go, where'd you go, go, go

Only yesterday, you held your values high
Only yesterday, you acted right
How quickly you've changed and justified those lies
How quickly you've changed and lost your pride

Still you keep your head held so high
And you act like you don't recognize
All the mess you made and left behind, left behind, left behind

Where did you go, where did you go
You and your soul, where did you go
You turned so cold, where did you go
The one we used to know
Where'd you go, where'd you go, go, go

Is this a temporary misplacement of your judgment
Are we to believe that someday you shall return again
Is there a point in hanging on any longer
Cause with you I'm not so strong since you're gone
Will you ever show, where did you go

Where did you go
You and your soul, where did you go
You turned so cold, where did you go

The one we used to know
Where'd you go, where'd you go, go, go

Where did you go, where did you go
You and your soul, where did you go
You turned so cold, where did you go
The one we used to know
Where'd you go, where'd you go
Where did you go
