

Sheer, The "She Knows"

"When every little thing is sneaking up behind
All the things you're searching for in your mind
You just got to let it go and call here name
When all the things you used to love are down and drain
You take another walk down memory lane
You just got to let it go and call here name

(chor.) She knows and it shows and unfolds
She knows just how to make me smile
She knows and it shows
If only for a little while

You don't have to lie or even say a word
I know that it seems a little bit absurd
You just let it go and call here name

If you think that this will be your last goodbye
Never lose your hope and keep your head up high
You just got to let it go and call here name

(chor.) She knows and it shows and unfolds
While...She knows!"
