

Theater Dream

"Misunderstood"

Visit "Misunderstood" on MotoLyrics.com

Waiting

In the calm of desolation

Wanting to break

From this circle of confusion

Sleeping

In the depths of isolation

Trying to wake

From this daydream of illusion

How can I feel abandoned

Even when the world surrounds me?

How can I bite the hand that

Feeds the strangers all around me?

How can I know so many

Never really knowing anyone

If I seem superhuman

I've been misunderstood

It challenges the essence of my soul

Leaves me in a state of disconnection

As I navigate the maze of self-control

Playing a lion being led to a cage

I turn from a thief to a beggar

From a god to God save me
How can I feel abandoned
Even when the world surrounds me?
How can I bite the hand that
Feeds the strangers all around me?
How can I know so many
Never really knowing anyone
If I seem superhuman
I've been misunderstood...misunderstood
Playing a lion being led to a cage
I turn from subreal to seclusion,
From love to distain,
From belief to dilusion
From a thief to a beggar,
From a god to God save me
How can I feel abandoned
Even when the world surrounds me?
How can I bite the hand that
Feeds the strangers all around me?
How can I know so many
Never really knowing anyone
If I seem superhuman
I've been misunderstood...misunderstood

Visit Theater Dream page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

