7) Scene Five: Through Her Eyes (05:29)

- John Petrucci

[Present]

[Nicholas:]

She never really had a chance

On that fateful moonlit night

Sacrificed without a fight

A victim of her circumstance

Now that I've become aware

And I've exposed this tragedy

A sadness grows inside of me

It all seems so unfair

I'm learning all about my life

By looking through her eyes

Just beyond the churchyard gates

Where the grass is overgrown

I saw the writing on her stone

I felt like I would suffocate

In loving memory of our child

So innocent, eyes open wide

I felt so empty as I cried

Like part of me had died
I'm learning all about my life
By looking through her eyes
And as her image
Wandered through my head
I wept just like a baby
As I lay awake in bed
And I know what it's like
To lose someone you love
And this felt just the same
She wasn't given any choice
Desperation stole her voice
I've been given so much more in life
I've got a son, I've got a wife
I had to suffer one last time
To grieve for her and say goodbye
Relive the anguish of my past
To find out who I was at last
The door has opened wide
I'm turning with the tide
Looking through her eyes
