

Theo Kogan

"miles"

Visit "miles" on MotoLyrics.com release the balloon follow with eyes till it's out of sight forget it so soon]letting it go into the light

I'd walk for miles and miles.. just to see what's on the road I'd let my shoes disintegrate just so I could see my toes

if I could be light as a feather and just drift upon the breeze it wouldn't matter where I was going changing directions with a sneeze fling for miles and miles just to see what's down below it wouldn't matter if I was sleeping letting the wind take me along

I'd re-write the dictionary just to count how many words that I could use and not use over , so many I have never heard

I'd write for miles and miles and miles just to see what's on the page I'd let the flesh come off my fingers just so I could see the bones

Visit Theo Kogan page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.