don't tell me that time is running out I got all the time in the world to hang out every day to live like it's the last learn from all the pain it's in the past and I run into the sky just as time is passing by and I can't stop to converse as I step into the earth eating bits of leaves and paper flowers taking baths in kitties golden showers tasting it in ways I only dreamed of can't run far away from those that I love and I run into the sky just as time is walking by and I can't stop to converse as I fall into the earth change change change cuz it's all just a game shame shame shame it's a chance you gotta take play play play before it's too late it's too late don't tell me that time is running out we got all the time in the world to hand out every day to live like it's the last learn from all the pain it's in the past and I run into the sky just as time is flashing by and I can't stop to converse as I crash into the earth

play before it's too late it's too late.
