On my early road from town while the morning's passing by on gravel roads

I see trees in red and brown and yellow.
Seems to be shades of green.

Oh why
do the fall cover me
Oh, I just have to wait and see

Honey I won't dare to lie
on the day you die
I die too

On my early ride from town
while the sun hurts my eyes
through the car window

Spending my money on travellin' wheels trying to fight the storm trying to be the one

Honey, I won't stand a chance
on the day you die
I die too

While you escaped my mind
you came twice as much again
the following day
oh, I hate this way from town and gravel roads.

Sing a long I bet you do
The radio's playing the same old tune
I don't know the signs of my tears
I guess it's only morning air

This should be a beautiful day
But I'm no longer know those words Half asleep and babe I'm burning while I'm looking far away

Oh why
do the fall cover me
have to wait and see

Spending my time
on homesick roads Trying to stay in shape forcing the hours to go

Honey I won't dare to lie
on the day you die
I die to

On my early ride from town

Honey, I won't stand a chance
on the die you die
I die too

Honey I won't dare to lie
I die too
I die too
I die too
