You must be the strong one do what's right

For you and I

Oh I will sing my requiem

To a love that hurts with every breath

And as I walk alone and live without your love

I will sing my requiem my requiem to you

We met just by chance or just by mistake

The universe was playing with our lives

It was all a game til I realized

You're the one I needed all this time

You saved my life

Oh I will sing my requiem

To a love that hurts with every breath

And as I walk alone and live without your love

I will sing my requiem my requiem to you

I see your face, the rising sun, and then I realized that you are gone

Oh I will sing my requiem

To a love that hurts with every breath

And as I walk alone and live without your love

I will sing my requiem my requiem to you

To you
