Where we never have to struggle to be free

There will be a time

When we find forgiveness

When we see each other

In a perfect light

If you just imagine living in a world

Where peace is the only answer that we need

That's when we'll rise higher than the highest mountain

That's when we'll reach for stars we never knew were there

And we will love deeper than the deepest oceans

Yes we will dream again, believe again in us

There will be a time

There will be a time

Will tomorrow bring with her kindness

To help us understand

This world is all we have

And will she take us on her wings of courage

Will she be strong enough to fly, to soar

If you just imagine living in a world

And we will never have to struggle to be free

That's when we'll rise higher than the highest mountains

That's when we'll reach for stars we never knew were there (never knew were there)

And we will love deeper than the deepest oceans

And we will dream again, believe again in us

There will be a time
