Loud screams, fighting words, awful things were said
You might not be able to take back
She puts her hands on his face
And tells him get out, get out

Just leave, she pleads
He can't believe what he's done
As he's walking down the street
The night keeps warning him to turn around

Underneath the night sky take flight
Underneath the night sky she cries
Underneath the night sky one last time
You know where I'm going

Underneath the night sky
Remembering the reasons why
Underneath the night sky
I'll fall for you tonight again

On his way to familiar arms
Someone who will know him, the girl who understands
Stops dead in his tracks to see
It's too much too give up, not too late for apologies

Turns down the wrong street, give me all your money
Should know better than to be here alone
Tries to run, doesn't feel like a fight
She could hear the shots ring out from home

Underneath the night sky take flight
Underneath the night sky she cries
Underneath the night sky one last time
You know where I'm going

Underneath the night sky
Remembering the reasons why
Underneath the night sky
I'll fall for you tonight again

Don't forget to hold her tight
Everything can change so fast

Underneath the night sky take flight
Underneath the night sky she cries
Underneath the night sky one last time
You know where I'm going

Underneath the night sky
Remembering the reasons why
Underneath the night sky
I'll fall for you tonight again

Don't forget to hold her tight
Everything can change so fast, no, no, no
Don't forget to hold her tight
Everything can change so fast
