

Silent Express, A "Winter Coat"

Get a long winter coat boy
Get a long winter coat
Be a long long winter
Til the sun melts the snow

Ain't seen you in a long while
Wonder where'd you go
But i still recognize you
You're just as gone as before

See you quite frequently now
Think you live in the street
Hand raised like a gun last time
Seeing things blind me

And I would be a stone-hearted judge
To say that this all serves you right
But I can't help thinking
That a little suffering
I wouldn't mind

Sometimes my thoughts have wandered
Down a paranoid trail
Did our rendezvous that night
Spawn a bad chain of things
But the roads that you choose to walk
They ain't mine to take
Get a long winter coat boy
To wear
Until the winter melts away
