

Silent Opera

"Farewell"

Visit "Farewell" on MotoLyrics.com

Every moment lived with you is a scar which won't goes away

An indeleble sign to create what you really are I can't evade no more, was I so weak for you?
If loving means all this, didn't I do enough?

If I was something so tell me goodbye because I couldn't look in your eyes anymore I want to rest alone and reflect about all this like a dream you came, and you had gone what miss me to break this bars

Where is the strenght I thought you had?
I don't know what will happen tomorrow on my way I couldn't know what isn't happend yet a castle can't be build on arid sand

My happiness was took me away too much time ago And I decided to destroy that castle from the fundaments
I will forget every single moment
Put it in the long list of my life's sufferings

Maybe all this was good it helps me to understand that I won't mistake again

Someone tells me that I haven't to regret beauty memories
So I say goodbye to you and don't come back for me
I won't recognize you anymore

It seems that god hasn't reserved me a simple life
I think he proofs me cruelly Screams which comes from inside until I'm bleeding outside
I stopped I won't mistake again...

Visit Silent Opera page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

