All these books but nothing to read
The snow is so deep I've lost my feet
But I'm feeling just fine, cause up in the sky
The ghost of an old mindset is fading

Walking these streets for the first time Confusion as a guide walking right alongside Tomorrow points in no direction and yesterday is sold Anything goes
if you never turn back home

On and on and on and on

They'll say you are a fool if you call yourself a rebel And then they call you tired when you're only twenty-seven

It seems so far away
To something you could love
It seems so far away
To something that could last

On and on and on and on
