"Million Years"

Open up your eyes,
And wake up to a new day,
See the morning rise,
And feel the love around you,
You can leave all your worries,
I'll be by your side,
I'll light my candle for you.

You will spread your wings,
And fly away,
And see the day,
But my love for you will last a million years,
But my love for you will last a million years,

There's a world for you,
There's a life just waiting,
So go and bring your best,
Make it all worth living,
Put your weight on my shoulders,
If you're feeling lost,
Cause I'll always be there for you,

You will spread your wings,
And fly away,
And see the day,
But my love for you will last a million years,
But my love for you will last a million years,

Another day,
Another time,
Another life in another world,
But I know we'll meet again,
Cause this love will never,
Never end,

You will spread your wings,
And fly away,
And see the day,
But my love for you will last a million years,
But my love for you will last a million years,
But my love for you will last a million years.
