

Simone Egeriis

"Shooting Star"

Visit "Shooting Star" on MotoLyrics.com

No one seems to think too much of me here
And they're glad to tell it to my face
And though I am not suppose to be here
I'm completely out of place
Somehow there has got to be a reason
Even as I try to think it through
There's a bold from the blue

And I see a shooting star
Set apart from all the rest
While the other stars are standing still
He's on a quest
Every night this shooting star
Dancing cross the twilight sky
Cause he knows he doesn't quit fit in
And he's longing to know why, know why

I feel so much better when it's night-time
That's when I can sort of disappear
When the sun is set and it's the right time
For pretending I'm not here
Sometimes I just stare into the heavens
Wondering if the answer is inside
That's when I see the light

Of my sent that shooting star
On his way to who knows where
He's a one like all the stars
But he outshines out there
If we both hang on for long enough
We both somehow are strong enough
We'll find out were we belong

Every night this shooting star
Dancing across the twilight sky
Cause he knows he doesn't quit fit in
And he's longing to know why
Know why

