After covering my face with a white muffler
I waited for you as I blinked my blood shot eyes
Those words I wanted to say
But not quite sure what they are An awkward nod with a tightening throat

As we take a step back, the empty space between us is filled with tears.
I angrily exclaimed, "Go."
And it seems like that I've already fled far far away...

Broke up today, we've broken up today
If you think you can understand my heart, then please
cry with me
I suppose I can't be the one, I suppose it's a no
How much longer do I have to cry until you'll love me properly ?

Your heartbeats echo in my eardrum
The lips locked away, gets clearer
Since when and where did we drift apart
When you've loved me till yesterday

Broke up today, we've broken up today
cry with me
I suppose I can't be the one, I suppose it's a no
How much longer do I have to cry until you'll love me
properly ?

I was so happy, I was so happy it pained more
I hate myself for getting tricked by love

I should have stayed and told you I was hurt
Our memories of love that should be holding you back
You live tomorrow and I today
No one, nothing can make me smile

Broke up today, we've broken up today
If you think you can understand my heart, then please
cry with me
I suppose I can't be the one, I suppose it's a no

How much longer do I have to cry until you'll love me properly ?
