Fear's a word that grips and tears away.
Your thoughts show through your face.
It's just too much.
Lessons learned and taught along the way
Now all just escape.
You're giving up.

You wonder how the stars all shine so bright
And yet the night is still so dark.

When will you break away
And give this all to grace?
You've had enough. But
You'll wanna run other ways
But you know it's time for change.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now just let this go.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now you're good as gold.

Broken pieces packed behind those eyes
Revealed each time you cry.
Reason the fight.
Well, you're worth more than what they say.
Don't you forget for another day
That you're loved and you mean everything.

You wonder how the stars all shine so bright
And yet the night is still so dark.

When will you break away
And give this all to grace?
You've had enough. But
You wanna run other ways
But you know it's time for change.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now just let this go.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now you're good as gold.

You've seen better days.

Oh, what I would give to see a smile on that face.
A little grin lets me know that it's all right.
One more night til dawn.
You swear you're the only one that's feeling all alone.
We'll write a song just to show you how fragile we all
are.
We'll write a song just to show you how fragile we all
are.

When will you break away
And give this all to grace?
You've had enough.

When will you break away
And give this all to grace?
You've had enough. But
You wanna run other ways
But here in His arms you'll stay.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now just let this go.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now you're good as gold.
It's okay. It's alright.
Now just let this go.
You've been cleaned. Been set free.
Now you're good as gold.
As gold.
