i believe that we have dreams of another world where we truly live in peace if its naive then call me a fool but in t his crazy place dreams are really all we have its not enough to say that you are helpless no its not enough to scream you cant take it no its not enough you can do more than make excuses for abuses that leave this hell on earth disease where nothing makes sense so we learn to live in pain cry keep on asking why and understand no one said it was easy everytime i think that its too late i ember the dreams and hang onto the little things cause nothings what it seems you can throw your hands in the air crawl inside with despair realize the lies and hatred aren't the only choice its not enough to say that you are helpless no its not enough to scream you cant take it no its not enough to speak of how you'd change no its not enough it never is everyday i try to understand the violence raging thorough this land yet all i see just baffles me what the hell is wrong with us all guns kill that's a fact excuses wont bring the dead back stop the money sot the greed that fuels this killing machine
