Oh when the sun sets tonight
And throw it's fire all over your sad face
Oh and the sparkle in your eye
Will burst into tears and remind me how we used to sing

We'll chase the sun 'til it burn us up
And we never let the night seas to hunt us down
And we never let the next day be the same
Oh when the morning comes I'll turn to you and sing it again

Oh I'm counting memories in my head
Counting lovers in the park
But no one beside me in my bed
Oh I'm just waiting for the phone to ring
Wish it could be you to remind me how we used sing

We'll chase the sun till it burn us up
And we'll never let the night seas to hunt us down
And we'll never let the next day be the same
Oh when the morning comes I'll turn to you and sing it
again
