James, it's about your sister
I wonder if you missed her
I'm on my way to see you but i don't know what to bring Almost gave up the ghost, now you have what she wants most
A little piece of heaven and a lovely song to sing

I find you there across the water
I'll meet you, just where and when You're the son and i'm the daughter
And we'll be together again

James remember we conquered
All the scary monsters
And the ocean may be wide but we're Always holding hands in the dark
James how can i cry when you
Went and changed the tides?
The air is filled with blood but we Still get by, and i said

James, it's about your sister
I wonder if you missed her
Almost gave up the ghost, now you have what she wants most
A little piece of heaven and a lovely song to sing
