"Best Unspoken"

I'll find time to bring to life what we had and could have
I'll trace the outline of your face and body with my hand
As we walked further, we only walked away
As we spoke softer you knew just what to say
To me

I'll be waiting
For you I'd forget everything
For you I write this melody
I'll be waiting

I found time to realize what I had
And maybe I was wrong so many times
As we walked further, we only walked away
As we spoke softer you knew just what to say
The streets seem empty nowadays
All I have is myself to blame
I'm put aside until I'm needed in your dreams

I'll be waiting
For you I'd forget everything
For you I write this melody
I'll be waiting
