As it drifted inward from the nearby shore, it came a long way.
Together we'll fall so hard.
And she's my new protagonist, but our time together is corrupted with antagonistic tendencies, and the growth of a new heart.
If we kissed within a vineyard then time would not exceed, if time defended my side then through the truth I'd let you bleed.
You know I am the author of these harmful things you read, creating vengeful words to cut you, and we both know that regret fills the pages
