Verse 1:

Your Screamin to the heavens, Yellin out ya problems, Askin god for help hoping he can come and solve them,
Looking for a way out, There's people all around you, Getting hit with sucka punches waitin for a round two,
You wanna leave but in the end you always stay, Because the only home you've known is getting thrown to your dismay,
You hurt but you don't bleed because the tears that they don't see are all the thoughts you keep inside hopin that no one see's you weak, Claiming they're to blame is only driving you insane because with every argument you win there's pain you must sustain,
But you just hold your ground which is more funny to me now because you say that you can fly when you can't even leave this town,
Its crazy how you want some love from those who give you none,
And you will push away the ones that love you just so you can run,
Like the goals to get away but you don't know where you are going,
So alone away from home I think It's time to stop the roaming.

Chorus:

It's a cold world we live in,
Sometimes it's hard to listen,
Going thru the motions never shows you what you
missin,
Sometimes the best advice is that it will get better,
Now or never's what I'm signin at the bottom of this letter.
And I'm regretting these mistakes that I have made,
hurtin others so I'm not the only one thats feelin pain,
Sometimes the best advice is that it will get better,
Now or never's what I'm signing at the bottom of this letter.

Verse 2:

Ya runnin from ya doubts cuz your too afraid of failure, Saying that you'll make it praying you can be the savior, fall in love too quickly then you give up on it swiftly like subconsciously your untying your laces and your tripping,
Stop and think about it,
With experience I've found that I'm the owner of the club but I don't even get allowed in, you could make a difference but ur too afraid to change,
feel the bruises that you give yourself but still you stay the same,
In retrospect I finally respect the wreck that I have set, Neglecting all your past regrets will never get you over it,
It'll stay inside you,
Can't hide cuz it'll find you,
Sometimes to fast forward first you gotta hit rewind dude,
And maybe make up for the damage you have caused, Cuz at times you live your life as if your able to hit pause,
But while you sit alone, everybody's moving on,
And if you wait the train that you should take will soon be gone,

Chorus:

It's a cold world we live in,
Sometimes it's hard to listen,
Going thru the motions never shows you what you
missin,
Sometimes the best advice is that it will get better,
Now or never's what I'm signin at the bottom of this letter.
And I'm regretting these mistakes that I have made,
hurtin others so I'm not the only one thats feelin pain,
Sometimes the best advice is that it will get better,
Now or never's what I'm signing at the bottom of this letter

Verse 3:

and you don't feel like you at home unless you spittin, Yet ya social life and life at home are so completely different,
See you are turning into something you despise, Lay ya eyes on the yourself and you can't even recognize,
Who the guy is on the other side of the mirror, Maybe this letter will help you to see it clearer, I'm seeing past all ya different personalities,

You got your own mother questioning your sanity, Like is he mad at me? Why he always traveling, never wants to talk every convo is a casualty, But you keep driving on,
Disregarding right and wrong,
Coming home to nothing but your thoughts, so you write a song,
Well this time listen to the things you really spitting, Cuz if it aint really worth it then it aint worth being written,
Open your eyes and maybe you'll truly see,
So I send this letter to me, sincerely Tony C.
