One foot at a time, you walk in,
you've caught all eyes.
You can't say this was not your intention.
And since when is it such an effort to breathe?

Allow me to invade your skin tonight,
submit now to my kiss it feels so right.

The choice is yours, with who, how far,
you own these hearts.
You don't know the damage you've done with your affection.
And since when is it such an effort to leave?

Allow me to invade your skin tonight,
submit now to my kiss it feels so right.
And into you I'll crash so hold on tight,
our bodies become one under dim light.

You better watch what you whisper,
together we will climb.
You better watch what you whisper,
when you release on the inside.

I've never felt something so real in all of my life.

You better watch what you whisper,
another sleepless night.
You better watch what you whisper,
I can see it in your eyes.

You better watch what you whisper.

You better watch what you whisper,
together we will climb.
You better watch what you whisper,
when you release on the inside.

I've never felt something so real in all of my life.
