

Snatchin' Jenny

"Ramblin' On"

Visit "Ramblin' On" on MotoLyrics.com

I must admit that I was out of my mind
I know it was cruel, but it was mine to decide
Rampage banging just outside of this place
No one cares for the man with the famous face

How your arrogance just bleeds for us all
The world is pretty small and it's about to fall
Radio thought those men to submit
No one ever really cares, no one really quits

And it's going over my head
And it's going over your heads (heads up)
And it's out of my hands
'Cause I've had enough
And it feels unfair (Oh it is so unfair)

They keep ramblin' on
And lacking credibility
I miss the power in your eyes

I must admit that I was willing to die
Because the truth is a myth
And it's not mine, mine to rewrite
How the ambience is like a pill for the soul
Because the soul is corrupted and it's about to fall

Visit Snatchin' Jenny page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.