

Snatchin' Jenny

"Sunday Moon"

Visit "Sunday Moon" on MotoLyrics.com

I will try to the best of my ability
Try and get out whatever's left in me
I'll sing a song
And I'll try to write a symphony tonight

You were kind but you needed all my sympathy
You were nice, yeah you're too young for me
My head is aching
When you lay in your bed do you cry?

You were there for the Sunday moon
You were there for those nights in June
You were there when I gave you everything
You weren't there when I lost

You were nice but you needed all my energy
Now everything's come and gone for me
Do you miss me when you lay in his bed?
Do you cry?

So you're the one to blame
Well I don't give a damn
Because you were mine
So you're the one to blame
Well I'm not ashamed
That you were mine

Visit Snatchin' Jenny page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.