I've been lying on the floor
With a textbook by my side
And I've been making up some problems just for fun
Thinking lines invading circles
With an end that's far away
I'd like to go there
But I know I'd have to stay

Take me with you
Take me far away from writing things
The poetry will end in writing rock songs

I've been lying on the floor
But no material came to mind
I've been looking at my problems
And they're fun
Invading lives with my big ego
I will be in a bar today
I'd like to love you
But I know you'd make me stay
