"Trust Is Shareware"

For all your life you've cared about people you don't really care about You've heard them shout and you've heard them out Now what's that all about?

And all the world's a United Nations of faceless scorn and starvation
The friend you need is a friendly invasion with no "what's in it for me?"

Saturday! And all that is flashing for the velvet cause
of lonely trolls Getaway! Nobody's asking you to stay put Still you vapourize and try to hide it Now I wanna hear you shout it:

I don't want the trust that can be bought
My kind of trust is a share-ware
I don't want the trust that can be bought
My kind of trust is a share-ware
My kind of trust is a share-ware, baby!

Now you don't know me but you may have seen me rocking the rules of esthetic hygiene My talk is dirty but my boots are clean.
Now ain't that worth a scream?

You can leave your money and your telephone Let's go and see if our friends are home
We'll cast long shadows from dusk 'til dawn Until were all alone

Saturday! And all that is flashin'
for the velvet cause
of lonely trolls
Any day, I hear you saying:
"They've filled us up with TV-lies and tranquilizers, Man! I should have realized that:

I don't want the trust that can be bought
My kind of trust is a share-ware
My kind of trust is a shy kind of trust
But the right kind of trust is a share-ware
