"Eden

Eden falling into the grey
Deeper shades of clown parades we drew
Even after melting away
Holding on to all that's gone from view

Will it all come to something in the end?
All I have to give.

Grooving in a meaningless haze
Live and learn the scars we earn we keep
Moving into meaningful days
Open wide the you, you hide down deep

Will it all come to something in the end?
All I have to give

Tell me the way to find my promised happy ending
How will I recognize when I have found my way
Wasn't it once upon a time we looked at life and
Happily ever after felt so far away?

Tokens of the stories of old
Dragons, kings, and all the things they say
Memories as we hear them retold
Ever brave the hero saves the day.

Will it all come to something in the end?
All I have to give

Tell me the way to find my promised happy ending
How will I recognize when I have found my way
Wasn't it once upon a time we looked at life and
Happily ever after felt so far away?"
