Did you ever want the world to see
The kind of person that you are?
Burning like a falling star
Hiding in a place where no-one goes
'Til the shadows come to life
Stop your dreaming through the night

Living in a state of urgency
And the past is catching up with me
As my imagination slips away
And I can't hold on to what I feel
And it's so hard to see what's real
When the sun comes up and starts another day

Every time I close my eyes I see your face
You're every thought I'm thinking
Every time I close my eyes I see your face
When I'm lost and falling, it's an endless story

Never had a place to call my own
Kept my feelings to myself, never trusted no-one else
If I had a way to block the sun
Would it make you understand?
Would it turn your dreams to sand?

Living in a state of urgency
And the past is catching up with me
As my imagination slips away
And I can't hold on to what I feel
And it's so hard to see what's real
When the sun comes up and starts another day

Every time I close my eyes I see your face
You're every thought I'm thinking
Every time I close my eyes I see your face
When I'm lost and falling, it's an endless story
