There's a voice in my head that says go back to bed
Mind ticking away as it does every day
Like traffic burning, it makes my head start turning
These thoughts won't seem to go away

Mixed feelings rolling in by the herd
As pictures of us speak a thousand words
I wish I knew what we were at first
'Cause now it seems like everything's been put in reverse

I'm searching for an answer as to how this can be
When I'm your nothing and you're everything to me
Couldn't you see I was falling
I was falling not exploring
Couldn't you see I was falling
For you

Some may say it'll never be the same
But the least you can do is remember my name
This time I won't put up a fight
And waste my time trying to put things right

Mixed feeling rolling in by the herd
As pictures of us speak a thousand words
I wish I knew what we were at first
'Cause now it seems like everything's been put in

I'm searching for an answer as to how this can be
When I'm your nothing and you're everything to me
Couldn't you see I was falling
I was falling not exploring
Couldn't you see I was falling
For you, for you, for you
