You are leaving today, you want to go your own way
And though it's breaking my heart I won't say so
Life will go on, baby after you're gone
Maybe it's better this way
Still I don't understand, we had to come to an end
I thought our mutual feelings were stronger
One day you'll see, you will remember me and how we used to be way back then

And though it's not a big thing, it's raining in my heart
My whole world falls apart

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell me its not true, say it ain't so
What am I to do without you

Oh I can't say goodbye no matter how much I try
I'm sure that I won't forget you
Something inside me tells me after tonight
I know that one day we might meet again
That's the day you will know everlasting love grows
In the hearts of two people believing
And time is a friend when broken hearts mend
With a smile and the sound of hello

The day the sun will shine and my feet won't touch the ground
The second time around

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell me that it's true, I need you so
What am I to do without you

(Listen to your heart) Without you
(Whenever you feel blue) Oh I feel blue
(One day you will see) There's no me, without you

What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here

Tell me that it's true, I need you so
What am I to do without your love
Where am I to go when you're not here
Tell me that it's true, I need you so
What am I to do without you
