Save Me

This living is cold
When you're covered by concrete and stone
Tryin' to make something
From the leftover parts deep within our souls
And making mistakes
Mean nothing when apologies, they can't relate
Stay wide eyed aware
A few months don't make a difference if you really care

Slow down, you're moving too fast
Don't waste today by wishing it would already pass
Cause my ideas are only starving and sober
Put your brush on my canvas I'll wait for your colors
Believe Me

It's all in the grind
A little patience makes things easier to find
In a quite little bar, it's clear how far I've come from the start
Another day to loose

Or another day from with which to choose
Stay wide eyed aware
A few months don't make a difference if you really care

But slow down, you're moving too fast
Don't waste today by wishing it would already pass
Cause my ideas are only starving and sober
Put your brush on my canvas I'll wait for your colors
Believe Me

I wanted you to save me
I wanted you to save me
I wanted you to save me from going my own way

Slow down, you're moving too fast
Don't waste today by wishing it would already pass
Cause my ideas are only starving and sober
Put your brush on my canvas I'll wait for your colors
Believe Me
