What's going on?
Now is there something that you want to tell me?
I'm hanging up, you really really have to act more friendly
And I'm going out of my mind

You better find a way to make me smile again
I just found my voice so don't you cry for me

I know you're jealous of the fame and glory
It's not my fault, I'm quite the catch and you are damn right boring
And I'm going out of my mind

You better find...

So don't cry for me, no don't you cry
I know you lied to me, but don't you cry

You smell of underwear and unwashed armpits
Give me a break!
Don't you complain when I for once look like shit
Don't even try,
I see right through you 'Cause your mind's much weaker than mine
And I'm still going out of my head

You better find a way to make me smile again,
I just found my voice so don't you cry for me
So when you're crying out
'Cause you're alone at night
Don't even try to call, it's not my fight

So don't cry for me, no don't cry for me
I know you lied to me, but don't you cry
